ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Dan WOOD, AIA, LEED AP is a co-founder of WORK Architecture Company. Wood received his BA at the University of Pennsylvania and Masters Degree from Columbia University. Wood has focused for many years on developing contemporary forms of ecological urbanism, including WORKac's competition-winning Greenbelt City project in Las Vegas, the Wild West Side study for Hudson Yards in New York and a study for the redesign of New Jersey in order to provide food locally for the New York metropolitan region. Wood has also led the firm's ongoing master-planning work for the BAM Cultural District in Brooklyn.

Prior to forming WORKac, Wood achieved international recognition as a partner with Rem Koolhaas at the Office for Metropolitan Architecture in the Netherlands. Wood was involved in leading many of the firm's best-known projects, including the IIT Campus Center, the Universal City Master Plan and both the Downsview Park and Union Station projects in Toronto.

Wood has taught at the Cooper Union and the Knowlton School of Architecture at Ohio State University where he was the Baumer visiting studio professor of Design. Wood is an Adjunct Professor at Princeton University's School of Architecture.

ABOUT THE DALLAS ARCHITECTURE FORUM

The Dallas Architecture Forum provides a continuing and challenging public discourse on architecture and urban design in - and for - the Dallas area. The Forum offers presentations of architecture through public lectures by designers, critics, and historians; through topical discussions; and through occasional study tours to buildings and cities locally and throughout the world. The Dallas Architecture Forum serves as an inclusive arena where people interested in and concerned with the built environment, non-professionals and professionals alike, may interact intellectually and socially.

Our membership comes from business, development, public affairs, education, the arts and from the design fields. This mix of interests and ties is one of the strengths we bring to our involvement with architecture. Support for the Forum's programs is a grassroots effort, coming from membership subscriptions at all levels and from the generous sponsorship of Forum seasons and events.
